

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Method for screening for an antiviral agent, by determining whether a potential agent interacts with a virus or cellular component which allows or prevents 5 preferential translation of a virus RNA compared to a host RNA under virus infection conditions; and determining whether any interaction of the agent with the component reduces the level of translation of an RNA of the virus.